

SENSORY SATURDAY

Join us for Sensory Saturday—a special quiet-time experience designed for our neurodiverse friends and families.

Before the gallery opens to the public, enjoy exploring in a low-stimulation environment featuring soft lighting, reduced sound, cozy bean bag calm zones, and access to sensory tools.

Engage in hands-on, sensory-friendly art-making activities! Whether you want to create, explore, or simply relax, we've got you covered.

This event is free and open to all ages. Let's create space for every kind of brilliance!

Sensory Saturday: Chill Vibes, Creative Minds - Autism Awareness

Pembroke Pines, FL (April 2, 2025) – Everyone is welcome to start their weekend with a gentle, sensory-friendly morning at The Frank Art Gallery. In honor of Autism Acceptance Month, gallery doors are opening early for Sensory Saturday—a special quiet-time experience designed for neurodiverse friends and families which will be held on Saturday, April 12, from 9 AM- 11 AM at The Frank C. Ortis Art Gallery, located at 601 City Center Way. April is Autism Acceptance/Awareness Month, a time to call attention to this wide spectrum disorder, educate the public and advocate for the needs of individuals with autism.

Details

Before the gallery opens to the public, visitors are welcome to explore the gallery in a low-stimulation environment featuring soft lighting, reduced sound, cozy bean bag calm zones, and access to sensory tools like fidget toys, weighted lap pads, and noise-canceling headphones. Additionally, there will be hands-on, sensory-friendly art-making activities.

It's a judgment-free zone where everyone can feel safe, seen, and inspired. This event is free and open to all ages.
